SIGN

DESIGN & PRODUCTION

In this fast moving world characterized by a multitude of brands and mixed media, companies need to ensure that they send out precisely the right message to visitors and passers by that correctly identifies who they are and what they stand for. Equally they need to ensure that the messages they display are clear, coherent and concise. Be it a complete signage solution for new offices, a modernisation or makeover, a re-branding exercise or an internal or external way finding system, Cosign have the expertise and creativity to produce stunning modern solutions.

ARCHITECTURAL LETTERS

Architectural letters and logos are individual, stand-alone elements attached to the elevation of a building.

Strictly speaking they would not have a background (other than the building itself) or panel but we have included all 3D lettering in this category. They are so called because they add to the architectural characteristics of the building as opposed to panel signs that tend to disfigure or obliterate parts of the building if sized or sighted insensitively.

WINDOW GRAPHICS

Decorative window film is being used more and more in modern architectural buildings because of their use of glass, which gives commercial spaces ample amounts of light. We offer a wide range of films that can add style or drama to your windows, inside or out. From etched effect that afford a bit more privacy to full colour images that can be printed onto translucent or fully opaque glass film. We can incorporate your words or logos into these designs to further customise the appearance.

Wedding SIGNS

Wedding signs are one of the latest big day must-haves. Whether you want to say something funny, something romantic or simply point your guests in the direction of the drinks, wedding signs are the perfect way to do it. A wedding sign will also give you some fantastic photo opportunities so if you have splashed out on a sign then make the most of it and have some great wedding pictures taken with it.
